

Annual report (2016-2017) of the SAS vice-president for inter-society relations Adrian L. Burke

March 17, 2017

SAS is an official sponsor of the GMPCA conference in Rennes, France. GMPCA has become the largest archaeometry conference in Europe. Our logo appears on the programme and on the web page.

SAS is also an official sponsor of the UKAS conference, via a new prize that has been created for early career researchers. Thanks Andrew. This conference is growing every year. It is a natural ally in terms of language.

In terms of the relationship between SAS and ISA, I have let our executive, and in particular our president, handle the inter-society relations.
